SUCCESS STORY

Jon moved a lot, never attending one school long enough to develop positive relationships. He began skipping school and started hanging out with a gang. After spending time in and out of several correction programs, Jon finally felt the need for change. He was referred to Freeport West and through his participation in the Life Skills Program and the Young Men’s classes, Jon realized with education, willpower and support, his future could have a better outcome. Today, Jon plays varsity basketball, maintains good grades and is setting an example for his peers at school and at Freeport West.
